CXT Software ships X Dispatch and X Route 7.0 along with X Mobile

The most powerful productivity tools for the delivery industry just got even better.

Phoenix, AZ – January 30, 2007 – CXT Software, a leading provider of software solutions for the delivery industry, today announced the release of X Dispatch and X Route version 7.0, along with X Mobile. X Route, when used in conjunction with X Mobile Applications and the new Distribution module, delivers a total route management solution.

“The landscape of same-day delivery is changing,” says Dan Calderone, President of CXT Software. “X Route with Distribution and X Mobile give our customers the power to compete for new lines of business while leveraging low cost hand held devices and the national cellular networks for capabilities not possible in the recent past. Field level OS&D with chain-of-custody tracking and GPS accountability are now available to any delivery company. X Dispatch 7.0 contains a wealth of new features making our flagship on demand software product even stronger.”

“Action Delivery Services was looking for a cutting edge software partner to provide a total solution through the entire delivery process”, says Robert Sampson, President of ADL Services, “CXT Software has delivered on that by providing a distribution module and mobility application that exceeded our expectations.” The Distribution component allows for batch creation of route stops using Automatic Shipping Notification (ASN) files and Over, Shortage & Damage (OS&D) reporting, all in real time!

The X Mobile suite of applications features bar-code scanning and signature capture capabilities; driver manifests can be downloaded to each driver’s mobile device and the user-friendly interface walks the driver through each step of the route while recording OS&D data.
